San Diego, CA – November 18, 2003 – MIR3, the technology leader in Intelligent Notification solutions, today announced that the Company has been selected by American Home Mortgage Holdings, Inc. (NASDAQ: AHH) to power emergency notification and communications across the Company's New York branch, with plans to deploy corporate-wide to more than 3,500 employees. MIR3's INlogicNOW™ provides American Home with the ability to deliver real-time alerts and business-critical information to company employees in the case of emergencies and/or events that threaten business resiliency. The Emergency Notification System will be used to support American Home's evolving disaster recovery initiatives.

"The ability to automate and verify time-urgent communications is key to the success of any emergency preparedness plan," states Bruce Blank, VP and Corporate Security Director, American Home Mortgage. "MIR3's INlogicNOW has replaced the time consuming and often ineffective process of call-trees, and delivers real-time messages to an infinitely scalable group of users via any type of device. The August Northwest blackout reaffirmed the importance of being able to communicate with our employees in times of crisis. We are now exploring the possibility of further extending our MIR3 deployment to connect with business partners."

After a successful proof of concept, the MIR3-powered Emergency Notification System has been adopted throughout American Home's New York office, with support for several system administrators and an unlimited number of users. MIR3's INlogicNOW will serve as a unified communications platform between all branch employees throughout the country in the event of a natural disaster, systems outage or other emergency scenarios. The System will also be leveraged at a regular frequency for ongoing business resiliency planning and testing. An independent retail originator of residential mortgage loans, American Home has a network of 226 domestic branches and more than 3,500 employees.
